Helping our neighbors

On any given day, thousands of homeless individuals and families are living in the streets, alleys and parks of Washington.

Many are local residents. Others migrate to the city, seeking help. Most are battling chronic mental illness or chemical dependency.

The Anne Frank House focuses its program in northwest Washington where many hundreds of men and women are homeless. We are committed to helping our neighbors in need, with housing, social services and friendship.

Serving homeless and chronically mentally ill men and women

The Anne Frank House (AFH) is an independent private nonprofit corporation affiliated with Adas Israel Congregation. Established in 1987, AFH provides housing and social service support to formerly homeless men and women with chronic mental illness.

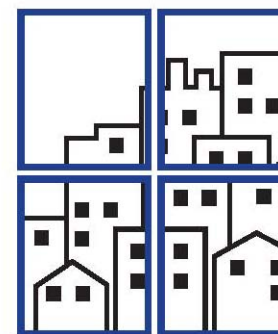

AFH activities are financed primarily by contributions and grants and are conducted solely within the District of Columbia.

Providing housing and social services

AFH's first project was a group home for women, which it operated for 12 years in a rented property. In 1996, AFH's strategy shifted to acquiring individual apartments in the District's Ward 3, where our partner, Adas Israel, is located. AFH continues to add rental and owned apartments to serve additional clients.

AFH currently owns five apartments in Cathedral Heights, Woodley Heights, Glover Park, and Chevy Chase, DC, and rents six in Cathedral Heights and on 16th Street.

The Community Council for the Homeless at Friendship Place provides case management for several of our clients.

Working with the community

AFH has built a strong partnership with the Community Council for the Homeless. We have also forged working relationships with church-sponsored shelters.

Spreading the word, building capacity

AFH also manages two special funds through which we award grants to sister organizations to start or improve facilities for the homeless or provide job training.

Recent AFH grant recipients include: N Street Village, Neighbors' Consejo, Thrive DC and Silver Spring Interfaith Housing Coalition.
